MISSOULA---The third annual MSU Coaches' Clinic sponsored by the Grizzly football staff will be held in the MSU Fieldhouse May 20-21, head coach Ray Jenkins has announced.

The annual session is held in conjunction with the 54th annual Interscholastic meet on campus, and it is expected that 125 of Montana's high school coaches will be in attendance. Lectures and demonstrations will be conducted by Jenkins, line coach Milt Schwenk, and backfield coach Hugh Davidson.

"This is largely an informal clinic, where all of the Montana coaches can get together and discuss common problems," Jenkins commented. Aside from lectures on the MSU style of football, the coaches will participate in a series of question-and-answer periods.

Sessions are scheduled from 9:45 through 11:45 on the morning of May 20 and 21. Coaches and administrators also will be guests of the MSU staff at a buffet supper May 20 at the Palace Hotel.

SILVERTIPS SLANTS.....

Out-of-town guests at the MSU-Utah baseball doubleheader last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Peterson of Miles City, who drove 520 miles to see their son, Tom, in action. Tom is a sophomore infielder on the Grizzly diamond squad.

Grizzly shotputters Ken Wersland and Harley Lewis had their best performances of the season last weekend in Montana's dual meet with Utah State in Logan. Wersland had the best toss of the afternoon, 50 feet eight inches. He nosed out Lewis for first place by one inch.

Montana University tracksters, who meet Montana State College this Saturday in Missoula, haven't lost a cinder match to the Bobcats since 1923.
